Special Issue: In Honour of Professor J.M.A. Brown

A tribute to Professor Dr. J.M.A. Brown

C. Den Hartog (Nijmegen, Netherlands)	1
Dissolved inorganic carbon influences the photosynthetic responses of Hydrilla to photoinhibitory conditions
A. White, J.B. Reiskind and G. Bowes (Gainesville, FL, USA)	3
Photosynthetic acclimation of submersed angiosperms to CO ₂ and HCO ₃ ⁻
T.V. Madsen, S.C. Maberly and G. Bowes (Risskov, Denmark)	15
The impact of invasive submersed weed species on seed banks in lake sediments
M.D. De Winton and J.S. Clayton (Hamilton, New Zealand).	31
Mechanical properties of the lacunar gas in Egeria densa Planch. shoots
B.K. Sorrell and F.I. Dromgoole (Auckland, New Zealand)	47
Loading and utilization of dissolved organic carbon from emergent macrophytes
C.J. Mann and R.G. Wetzel (Tuscaloosa, AL, USA)	61
The impact of grazing waterfowl on submersed macrophytes: In situ experiments in a shallow eutrophic lake
M. Søndergaard, L. Bruun, T. Lauridsen, E. Jeppesen (Silkeborg, Denmark) and T.V. Madsen (Risskov, Denmark)	73
The effects of ammonium on growth, accumulation of free amino acids and nutritional status of young phosphorus deficient Stratiotes aloides plants
A.J.P. Smolders, C. Den Hartog, C.B.L. Van Gestel and J.G.M. Roelofs (Nijmegen, Netherlands)	85
Tides, light and the distribution of Zostera marina in Long Island Sound, USA
E.W. Koch (Cambridge, MD, USA) and S. Beer (Groton, CT, USA)	97
Application of secondary production methods to estimates of net aboveground primary production of emergent aquatic macrophytes
R.G. Wetzel and D. Pickard (Tuscaloosa, AL, USA)	109
Depletion of turions and tubers of Hydrilla verticillata in the North New River Canal, Florida
D.L. Sutton (Fort Lauderdale, FL, USA)	121

Effects of a potential biocontrol agent, Euhrychiopsis lecontei , on Eurasian watermilfoil in experimental tanks
R.M. Newman, K.L. Holmberg, D.D. Biesboer and B.G. Penner (St. Paul, MN, USA)	131
Influences of water depth and substrate nitrogen on leaf surface area and maximum bed extension in Nymphaea odorata
M. Sinden-Hempstead and K.T. Killingbeck (Kingston, RI, USA)	151

Rhizome growth of Menyanthes trifoliata L. in a population on a floating peat mat in Mizorogaike Pond, central Japan A. Haraguchi (Nayoro, Japan)	163
Effects of waves on helophyte stands: mechanical characteristics of stems of Phragmites australis and Scirpus lacustris H. Coops (Lelystad, The Netherlands) and G. Van der Velde (Nijmegen, The Netherlands)	175
Interactions between waves, bank erosion and emergent vegetation: an experimental study in a wave tank H. Coops, N. Geilen (Lelystad, The Netherlands), H.J. Verheij (Emmeloord, The Netherlands), R. Boeters (Delft, The Netherlands) and G. Van der Velde (Nijmegen, The Netherlands)	187
Distribution, abundance, and species composition of seagrasses at several sites in Oman B.P. Jupp (Muscat, Oman), M.J. Durako (St. Petersburg, FL, USA), W.J. Kenworthy, G.W. Thayer (Beaufort, NC, USA) and L. Schillak (Frankfurt, Germany)	199
Seasonal light and temperature responses of Caulerpa taxifolia from the northwestern Mediterranean E. Gacia, C. Rodríguez-Prieto, O. Delgado and E. Ballesteros (Girona, Spain)	215
Technical communications
A power analysis of methods for assessment of change in seagrass cover W.S. Heidelbaugh and W.G. Nelson (Melbourne, FL, USA)	227
Detecting an environmental impact of dredging on seagrass beds with a BACIR sampling design B.G. Long, D.M. Dennis, T.D. Skewes and I.R. Poiner (Cleveland, Qld., Australia)	235
Short communication
The invasive alga Caulerpa taxifolia is not a suitable diet for the sea urchin Paracentrotus lividus C.-F. Boudouresque (Marseille, France), R. Lemée, X. Mari and A. Meinesz (Nice, France)	245
